Corporate Interiors No. 11 Roger Yee

"How do the nation's progressive businesses and institutions give their employees the means to excel in difficult times, with headquarters, regional centers, R&D facilities, law offices and other facilities designed to support optimum working conditions that focus on workflow rather than organizational rank? The answer can be found in Corporate Interiors No. 11. Business leaders and their architects and interior designers will find scores of recently completed projects showcased in 100s of full-color images in the latest volume in the Corporate Interiors series. This book offers an effective means of assessing their options for planning, designing and building state-of-the-art facilities. Many of the nation's most successful and innovative architectural and interior design firms showcase their latest and most important work in Corporate Interiors No. 11 through beautifully reproduced, full-color images and informative editorial by Roger Yee. Nowhere else will the reader find such innovative new facilities serving organizations and staffs with workspaces that their predecessors might scarcely recognize.
